

An OV-10 Model, a tribute to the Aussies, Kiwis and the 19th TASS

G'day Tom,

My name is Robert Knox,
I was a Helicopter Aircrewman on Black Hawks and Iroquois in the Australian Army for 25 years. Loved my job.

Now, in my middle age, my hobby is flying radio-controlled model Warbirds. My most recent customisation was of a 19th TASS OV10. I chose this particular aircraft because about 38 RAAF pilots served with the 19th TASS, including at least 1 navy pilot and one New Zealand (Kiwi) pilot that I'm aware of.

The customisation took me about 3 months to complete. Flying the model is a real treat because the design of the Bronco, and its handling characteristics are just wonderful. In the past month, I've managed to put 25 flights onto her.

If you'd like to use these pics on your website, then, please feel free. Thank you all for your service.

Rob

